Desirable local gifting at an affordable price point

by a couple of Santa's more devoted local helpers

LET'S FACE IT. Living in the Hudson Valley can be expensive at any time of the year, let alone during the holidays. There is, however, a silver — and gold — lining....

This holiday season, we have chosen a curated selection of affordable and — believe it or not — desirable gifts for you and yours. So grab your favorite festive nog or grog and a cozy blanket as we present HVI's 30 gifts for $30 or less... Don't forget that saving money can yield many happy returns!

To ensure that you don't think that we're stacking the deck by putting our personal favorites first, we're presenting our offerings in alphabetical order. Bless the aardvark for its leading role in the roll of the world's creatures.

trying for many people. The constant need to shop, to decorate, to be merry around excessive numbers of friends and family, can be difficult. Sometimes nothing makes the holidays more bearable than a good drink. We happen to be blessed with a massive number of locally distilled drinks here in the Hudson Valley. From a locally made glog to bourbon to whiskey: a locally distilled alcohol is a perfect gift for many.

Some of our favorite places to buy our alcohol include Woodstock Wine & Liquors in Woodstock, Miron Liquors in Kingston and Town & Country in Saugerties

2. Apparel

HV1 has always espoused the notion of supporting local no matter the time of year. We love our towns and villages, our homes and hearths. Our communities are what make each season feel so special and so close to our hearts. And so whether you choose to wear your heart across your chest or on your sleeve, Hudson Valley t-shirts are apparel you can don any time you feel like coming home.

To find your local apparel, try Hamilton & Adams in Kingston or Newberry Artisan Market in Saugerties.

3. Art

The Hudson Valley has been a renowned location for artists for at least the past two centuries. It continues to attract numerous artists. During the holiday season, practically any arts and craft show will feature artists personally selling their art at very affordable prices. Nothing feels better than picking out a print from that artist, hearing a bit about their inspiration, and handing your money over to them personally. You have succeeded in supporting a local artist (and neighbor) and in purchasing a unique and special gift. Win-win.

4. Bird houses

each day and each month with a local calendar. Whether you pick a calendar with pictures by one local artist or photographer, or one that mixes it up with a variety of local scenes, some historical and some contemporary, such a calendar will be a delight for the entire year to come. You can guarantee that at the beginning of each month you will be remembered as the page is turned.

One of our personal favorites is the Art of Seed Calendar by Hudson Valley Seed Company.

7. Candles.

Candles from Candlestock in Woodstock.

Is there any image one can conjure of a cold, dark and snowy night that does not include a candle in the window and the soft warm glow of its light? With it, hygge is created. Without it, the feeling of frost and an icy chill to the bone remain.

Why not save someone on your list from this dismal isolation and gift them a crafted candle from one of our local candle shops? Remember, it's not just a candle. It's how we show someone they are welcome.

Our favorite candle shops include Candlestock in Woodstock and Little Light of Mine in New Paltz.

Our favorite earring spots include Sparkle in Woodstock and Soiled Doves in Rosendale.

16. Ice skating.

Ice skating at Wollman Rink in Central Park has become something of a classic holiday must-do. In fact, it features quite prominently in so many quintessential seasonal pursuits, it's rather difficult to imagine a true New York State winter wonderland without the experience.

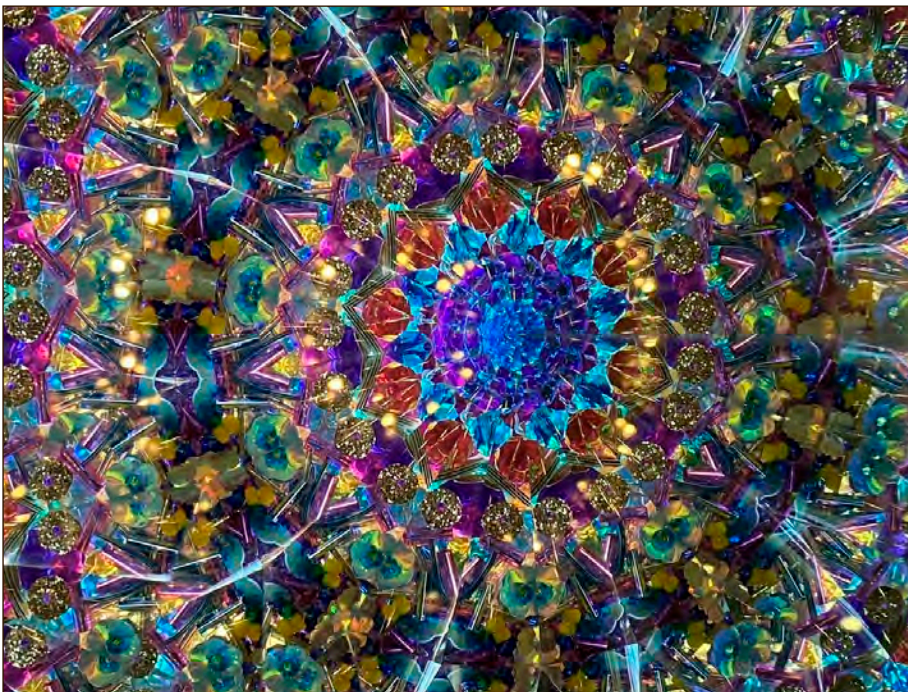

Here in the Hudson Valley, we have a frozen festivity available to transport you and yours from the hustle and bustle of New York City to the quaint and welcoming Village of Saugerties. The Kiwanis ice rink offers public skating sessions featuring Cosmic Skate. Experience this not-to-be-missed holiday activity in your very own back yard.

Go to: <https://www.kiwanisicearena.com/> for information.

17. Kaleidoscope.

Emerson Resort and Spa on Route 28 in Mount Pleasant can certainly serve as an excellent locale for one to shop with this very list in hand. However, there is one superlative available here and here alone that towers above the rest. That's a visit to the world's largest kaleidoscope, recorded with that honor by the Guinness Book of World Records in 1997.

19. Oil and vinegar.

Olive oil at Scarborough Fare in New Paltz.

A dedicated foodie's love for sauces, oils and vinegars, infusions, herbs and spices (and gourmet culinary items in general) truly knows no bounds. It might then follow that simply snatching a decent product off the shelves from another region or country would deliver the necessary enjoyment to the recipient. However, what if there were a surefire way to surpass that delight by allowing them the ability to visit an olive oil and vinegar taproom and sample directly a carefully crafted creation they can then use throughout the year?

Go to Scarborough Fare in New Paltz for this experience. If you can't make it there, check out our locally made sauce suggestions from last year at <https://hudsonvalleyone.com/2022/11/26/give-a-basket-of-irresistible-locally-made-sauces/> each year, we think back to where and when we acquired a particular ornament and what it meant to us at that moment. Give the gift that will be a symbol of you and your friendship every holiday season.

Our top picks for holiday ornaments include Handmade and More in New Paltz and The Gilded Carriage in Woodstock.

21. Plants.

I was never a plant person. I was the person with the terribly sad half-dead plant struggling to survive. Then I discovered succulents. There is nothing better than a small green life sitting on my windowsill needing nothing but water every couple of months.

Whether you have a list of avid gardeners or someone who needs a plant that survives even when mostly neglected, plants can be the perfect gift.

The Hudson Valley also has a large array of local florists who can point you in the right direction. Local favorites include Dancing Tulip in Saugerties, Jarita's in Woodstock, Meadowscent in Gardiner, and Pelatos in Kingston.

22. Pottery.

Once again we are blessed to be in an area full of artists and creators. We cannot leave off the potter on our list of people who make beautiful, magical items. There are potters who make gorgeous vases and bowls that become the focal point of many homes and are well worth the occasional hefty price tag. There are also smaller items that can be purchased below our $30 price point. A small saucer can hold the accompanying sauce. The mug can hold the tea to accompany a tasty cookie into which one can dip.

These items become part of everyday use and are always appreciated and admired for the work that went into them.

Our personal top picks include cups by Jean Campbell and little animal plates by Lora Shelley.

23. Soaps.

Have you ever been invited to a friend's house and upon entering their bathroom marveled at the wonderful smell of herbs and the cute little hand towels hanging nearby? Inevitably, these kinds of bathrooms have a delectable bar of soap complete with little bits of herbs that make your hands feel entirely scrubbed clean in a lovingly natural way. Pass that feeling on by buying a handmade local soap made right here in the Hudson Valley.

Locally made soap from Phoenicia Soap Co.

A few choice soapmakers include Phoenicia Soap Company in Shokan, Heart & Arrow Handcrafted in Accord, and Rondout Soap Co. in Kingston.

24. Socks.

Socks from Woodsocks in Woodstock.

In the movie A Christmas Story, there's a scene where two kids are furiously opening gifts. I always remember the moment when the kids unwrap ... socks. They look at each other and toss them over their shoulders, quickly moving onto the next gift.

That idea of socks being a throwaway gift is a thing of the past. Socks have gotten cool. There are now socks to fit every personality on your list: Bright colorful socks, sarcastic socks, socks for animal lovers from alligators to zebras. Socks heralding one's greatest vice — whether it be coffee, being grumpy in the morning, or smoking weed.

Maybe your friends have no vices. In that case, there are socks for the reader in your life: the hiker, the gardener, your next-door neighbor, etc. Socks are no longer a non-customized gift. They're acts of consideration, surprises that show how well you know someone's favorite color or favorite activity.

In Woodstock, there is an entire store, Woodsocks, filled with socks. Check it out. Other places with cute socks to pick 26. Tea.

Tea gift package from Harney & Sons.

Coffee may have become our go-to beverage, whether in the form of an early-morning jolt at home, a coffeehouse that doubles as our workspace, or a social scene to be seen. Coffee is everywhere. Yes, it even appears elsewhere on this very list!

But while often overshadowed by its more popular cousin, a warm cuppa tea can soothe the soul in a way that coffee simply cannot. Tea produces the discriminating individual's milder buzz, a gentle feeling that maybe everything is all right with the world after all.

27. Tote bag.

Tote bag from The Grazery in New Paltz.

Vintage gifts at Rewind in Kingston.

You can never, ever have too many tote bags. Whether heading to the grocery store or packing lunch, I always seem to be on an endless search to find a tote bag not only to bundle up all the things that don't fit into my purse but also to save the planet and represent whatever place the tote bag originates from.

A couple of our favorites are the Bearsville Theater logo bag in Bearsville and the Grazery in New Paltz

28. Vintage.

I love to shop at vintage stores. Where else can you find a vase, a piece of clothing, antique memorabilia, toys you can recall playing with as a kid, and a piece of local history, art that has lovingly hung upon someone else's wall, etc.? The possibilities are endless. However, you have to go into it with a completely open mind. You will never find the exact thing you had pictured, but you do know that you will find a completely unique item that can't

29. Wine.

Wine from Whitecliff winery in Gardiner.

A bottle of wine will be a welcome visitor to your holiday table. It's an obvious choice for easy gift-giving while enjoying friends-and-family festivities. Delving just a little bit deeper into our local wine culture can add indispensable insight (and an essential tasting) into what makes this region so special.

By one account, the Hudson Valley has been blessed with nearly 60 wineries from the Westchester to Albany areas. What better way is there to select not only a delicious and affordable wine from your own personal stomping grounds, but also one in which our unique terroir supplies your giftee the distinctive qualities of our regional complexities and identity.

Our picks include: Whitecliff Vineyard in Gardiner and Millbrook Winery in Millbrook. We also encourage you to follow the Shawangunk Wine Trail and shop along the way!

30. Yes, the inevitable HV1 plug (and subscription.)

Well, we assume you knew this one was coming ... and yes, shameless self-promotion is an unfortunate but essential part of life in 2023. However, this does not mean that we do not feel there is a verifiable and inherent value in what HV1 offers.

Your gift of an HV1 newspaper will arrive each week, heralding tidings for certain and while we cannot predict all of it will be joyful, we can say that it's the single most 'local' gift one can give. And to top it all off, it can offer an amazing under-the-tree appearance as next season's wrapping paper. Happy holidays.

Normally, our subscriptions are just over our fairly strict $30 price point. But our gift to you this holiday season is a gift subscription at $30 using the code HV1gift30 for either print or digital subscription (not valid for combo print-digital subscriptions).

Please, we ask you to use this code for new subscriptions purchased as a gift only. Valid through December 31.

Thank you so much for your support throughout this year and every year!
